

Felix the Mouse

By Tamara Kula

Hello!
This is Felix.
He is a mouse.

He is small.
He is very small!
He is a small mouse.

This is a house.
This is Felix's house.
The house is big.
The house is very big!

Felix is very small.
Why?
Because Felix is a mouse.

This is Alison.
She is short.

This is Elliot.
He is tall.

Alison loves Elliot.

Elliot loves Alison.

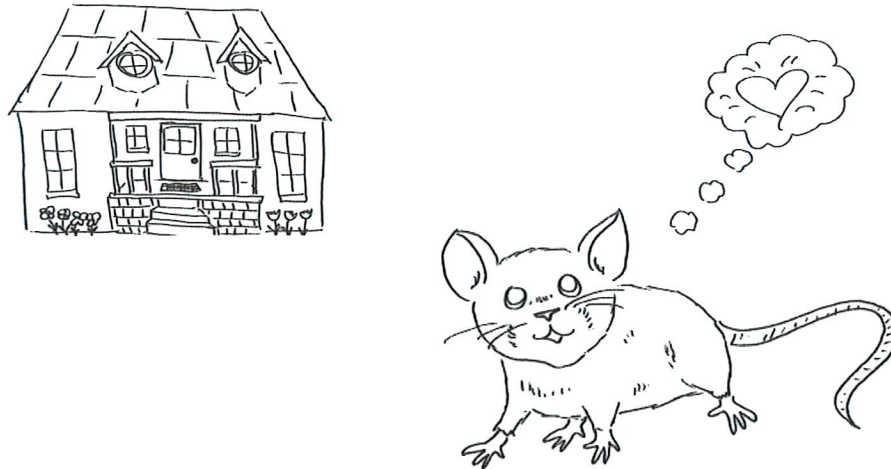

Elliot loves the house.

Alison loves the house.

Felix loves the house, too.

But ...

Alison hates Felix.

Why?

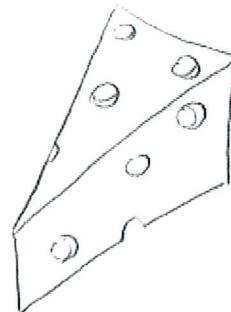

Because ... Felix is a mouse.

Felix loves the house very much.
He says, "It is my house."

Alison loves the house very much.
She says, "It is my house."

Alison has an idea.

This is the kitchen.

This is the cheese.

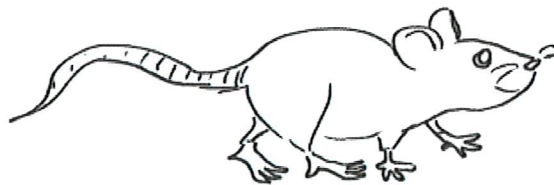

Alison says,
"The mouse loves cheese, right? Yes."

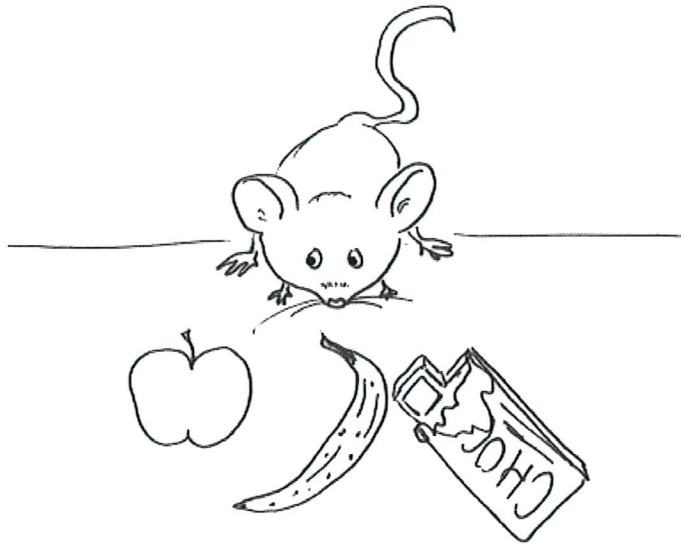

Now it is night.
Alison is sleeping. Elliot sleeping.

Felix is not sleeping.

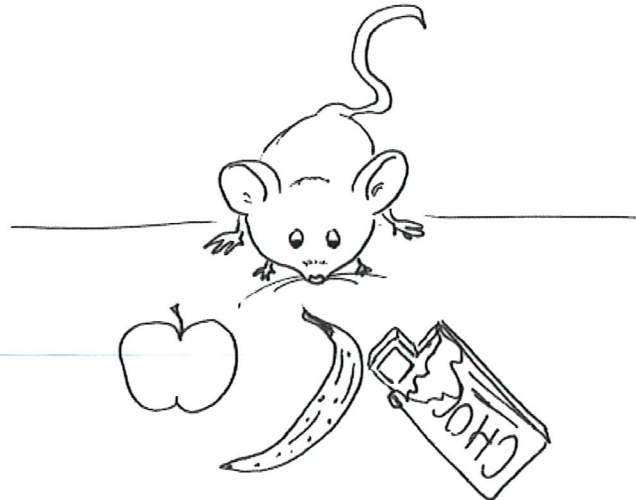

He is in the kitchen. He is hungry.

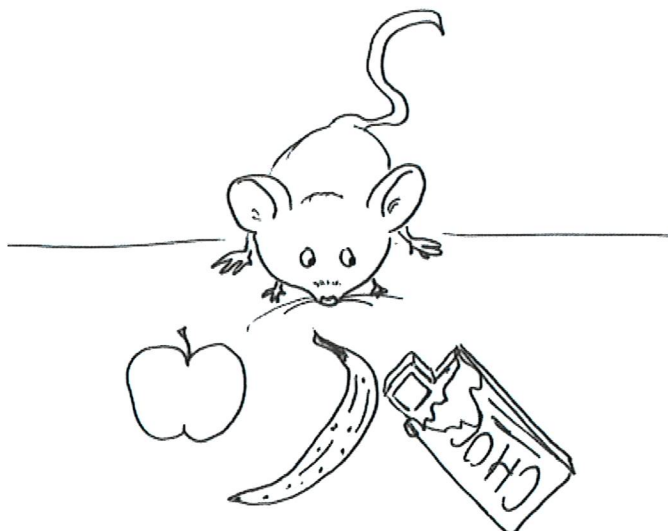

He sees an apple.

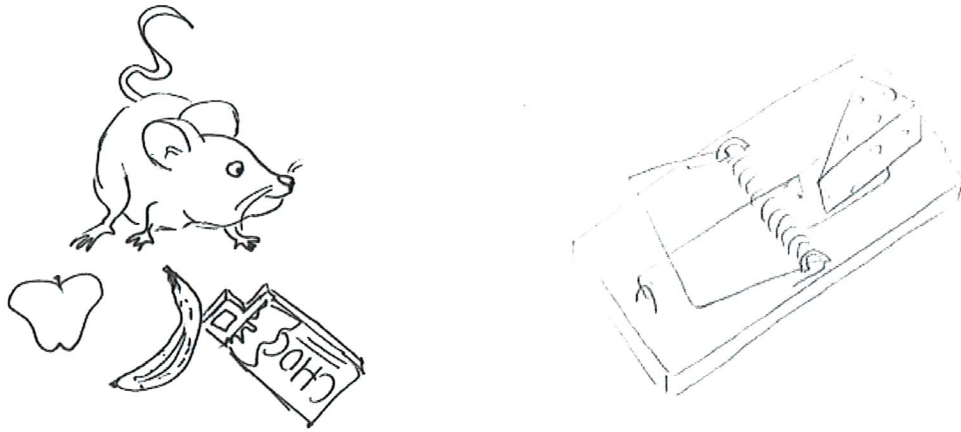

He sees a banana.

He sees the chocolate.

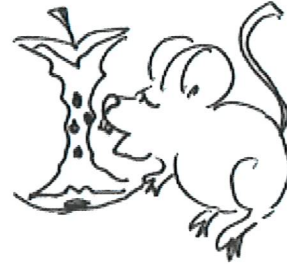

He sees the cheese.

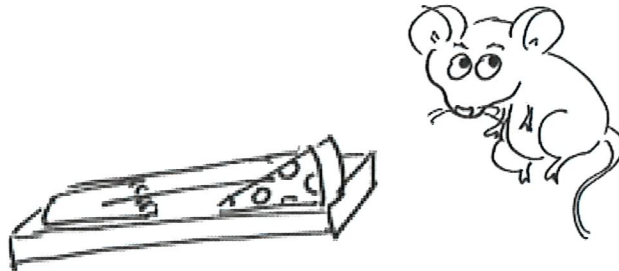

Felix says, "I love chocolate!"
Felix eats the chocolate.

Felix says, "I love bananas and apples!"
He eats the banana and the apple.

He says, "Cheese? No. I do not love cheese."

He does not eat the cheese.
Now he is not hungry.

This is Felix's bed.
He is sleeping.

This is Felix's stomach. It is very big.

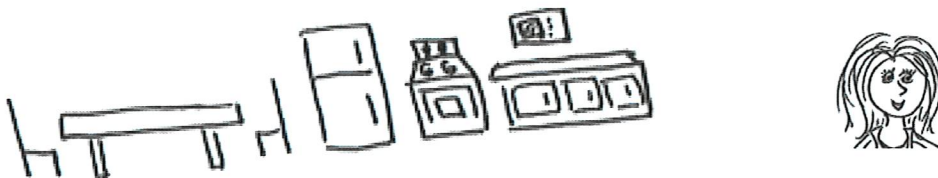

Why?

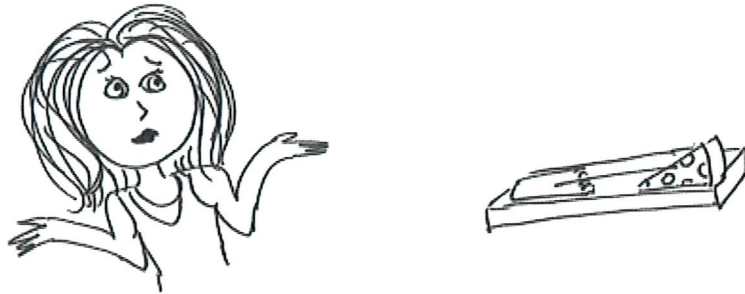

Because his stomach has an apple,
a banana, and chocolate.

Now it is morning.

Alison is not sleeping. She is in the kitchen.

She sees the cheese.

She says, "Where is the mouse?"

Alison is hungry.
She says, "I want an apple."

Where is the apple?

She says,
"I want a banana."

Where is the banana?

She says, "I want chocolate!"

Where is the chocolate?

Alison is angry.
She eats the cheese.
